

Recruiting is tough so finding a trusted recruiting partner is key.

Linkus Group is a high-touch and well-connected agency firm who is proud to support high growth tech startups looking to make a big impact.

Linkus' highly personalized and dedicated approach to customer success has been instrumental in our growth. We bring a group of industry experts who understand the transition from startup to scaleup first-hand, and focus on building a successful recruiting strategy. From writing job descriptions to candidate experience to employee onboarding, Linkus' recruiting experts will weave industry expertise into the hiring process every step of the way.

We only work with a select few clients, and we do this to provide high-quality support and measurable success. The feedback we get from our recruitment strategy is that the experience and successes surpass that of other firms, which have resulted in our 96% retention rate.
